

My Second Week

This first class of the second week was good by one side because at the beginning of the lesson all the students were paying attention and so interested on what I was explaining but when the class was going by some students fell asleep, at the end those students didn't present the activity

The second class of the week improved a little bit better because the students that didn't want to pay attention the last class were asking me how to use conditionals, and they made the activities that were planned.

Daniela Martínez Puello

Práctica Profesional II

2016

