

Journal

May 16th – May 20th

I have to mention that this week I did not impart classes at 11th grade because the teacher told me that she wanted to do some exercises about Pruebas Saber and asked me to let her be the teacher. However, I continued with 10th grade only on Friday because on Monday they did not have classes. In this journal, I am not going to express something “negative” in this opportunity. When you are a teacher, you expect to be loved by your students and colleagues as well. This week, I realized how much appreciated I am by my students. I told them that my teaching practicum was going to finish in a week more or less. My students were sad and that feeling was in the atmosphere. They told me if I could stay longer as they appreciate me so much in this short of time. In addition, they said that I was a good teacher because I taught them English through what they liked the most such as songs, games, speaking, and funny situations among others. When I heard that, I could not believe that I had done such a great job as they were recognizing all my efforts and they asked for forgiveness when they behaved badly but what they do not know is that they with bad behavior taught me a lot of things and helped me to grow personally and professionally as well. In other words, I felt like a teacher. A teacher that has been doing a good job because it is not easy that students recognize you as a role model as they did.

Lizeth López Vásquez

Pedagogical practice II